To make the most of the time you spend with your Mentor it is important you reflect on how the meeting went and what was discussed.

Reflection: How do you feel? What were the main outcomes? What did you learn? What will you ask at your next meeting?

I had a short tour of the workplace and had the chance to speak to some members and ask them general questions of their past experiences, university, programming languages, job applications and tips and advice they would give ~~themselves~~ to their younger selves. It was interesting listening to their past history, ~~see~~ the skill gap and growth related to the industry, and advice ~~to~~ to not immediately jump into the games industry and look to other fields like software development.
